Dear Mr. [REDACTED]:

This is to advise you that your story entitled "Exclusive! Sarah and Todd are Splitsville" is categorically false. What you represent to be facts are in reality complete fabrications, false and defamatory. The Palins are not about to get a divorce. Other alleged "facts" in your story are equally wrong, such as buying property in Montana, throwing away her ring, Todd "pulling a gun", the couple not speaking at the Governor's Picnic in Fairbanks, the Governor "pressuring" the prosecutors regarding Mrs. Johnston, etc. You go out of way to state these as confirmed facts: "Now nothing written above should be considered a rumor."

Although it is likely you knew your statements were false when you published them, you certainly are on notice as of 1:00 pm AST that your alleged facts are false and hereafter constitute malice. By 3:00 pm today AST please post a retraction of your story with an apology for printing false and defamatory statements. In the event you refuse to do so, please give me the contact information for your attorney. If you do not have an attorney, please let me know if you want to be served with the summons and complaint at the kindergarten where you assist or at your residence.

Very truly yours,

Thomas Van Flein, for
Governor Sarah Palin
